

Environment Variables?

Environment variables are used to store values that change depending on the environment (development, production, testing), like database URLs, API keys, secrets, etc.

Why We Use Them?

TechZeen

-  Secure sensitive info like passwords or API keys
-  Easily switch between dev/staging/prod environments
-  Keep codebase clean and configurable

